c. Describe the purpose of this DoD information system or electronic collection and describe the types of personal information about individuals collected in the system.

MilGears provides Service Members and veterans with an assessment of their qualifications and professional growth opportunities using aggregated military and civilian occupational and credentialing data. The system provides users with customized output, regarding potential civilian and military career paths, apprenticeships, certifications, continuing education, and more, to allow users to explore potential new career pathways. Output also includes a digital Learning and Employment Record (LER) based on user-specific information.

The following personal information is collected in the system: Full name, personal and work email address, age, rank, employment information, military records, and education/training information and transcripts. To close out their session a user may choose to download their data to a password protected, encrypted, session file only readable by MilGears; or have it maintained in a protected database within a MilGears environment.

d. Why is the PII collected and/or what is the intended use of the PII? (e.g., verification, identification, authentication, data matching, mission-related use, administrative use)

MilGears is a customized career-building tool that performs an assessment of user's qualifications and professional growth opportunities using aggregated military and civilian occupational and credentialing data. Therefore, PII such as education history, employment history and military records are needed in order for the system to populate a digital learning and employment record and help users plan and achieve their goals by highlighting career possibilities for this specific mission-related use.

e. Do individuals have the opportunity to object to the collection of their PII?  Yes  No

(1) If "Yes," describe the method by which individuals can object to the collection of PII.

(2) If "No," state the reason why individuals cannot object to the collection of PII.

The user is not required to input any data in order to use MilGears. However, for personalized/customized results based on the unique individual/user, the more input that is entered, the better the output/results. As part of this process, individuals also have the option to download their Joint Services Transcript (JST) during the original collection of PII at their Service Branch. This option, however, requires full user consent.

f. Do individuals have the opportunity to consent to the specific uses of their PII?  Yes  No

(1) If "Yes," describe the method by which individuals can give or withhold their consent.

(2) If "No," state the reason why individuals cannot give or withhold their consent.

MilGears contains several tools that uses PII. The user has the option to clear their data before switching between tools allowing them to use a tool without their PII. If a user chooses to save their progress, a notice is given that PII is stored in a session file to their local machine to save progress between sessions or a user can choose to create a user account. A user may opt-out and not re-upload their PII.

g. When an individual is asked to provide PII, a Privacy Act Statement (PAS) and/or a Privacy Advisory must be provided. (Check as appropriate and provide the actual wording.)
